

Gerald Grison – Technician, Integrated Media

Gerald Grison is a multidisciplinary artist, musician, technician, and educator. Finding inspiration from discarded electronics, their work focuses on issues of technology literacy, the right to repair and planned obsolescence. They have held several positions with OCAD U dating back to 2005, including student, staff, faculty, and management positions. Gerald has a strong dedication to community-led Health and Safety in their personal life, academics, and at work. Whether climbing cliffs in the back country, working in the studio, or chairing OCAD U's JHSC, their dedication is always to the team and to fostering a culture of health and safety.